WE are CP and WE are one

As far as any standard, chronological sequence of events hold, CPHS once again opened its doors and resumed action for another school year on the usual prescribed date. For the most part, the customary scheme remained intact.

It was not destined to be a year to end all years, but nonetheless, it would have its moments. The time would pass with relative ease, and soon yet another class of students would retire to the ranks of CPHS alumni, and a new awaiting group take its place to continue the everlasting cycle.

The graduating class of 1982 celebrated 100 years of academics in a long tradition of excellence at CPHS. Although a 102nd year of existence at CPHS is far from as glamorous as that of the 100th graduating class, the year was as exciting as any before it in any aspect.

The "tradition of excellence" was just as apparent as in previous school years. The year, to say the least, was an interesting one. CPHS showed its strength both academically and athletically, accomplishing much in both fields. There were, of course, losses and disappointments as far as both areas go, but these could never shroud Crown Point's never-ending drive and determination.

Extracurricular activities and clubs also provided students with a chance for exercising their talents and skills as well. All of this was primarily achieved through simple dedication to their particular objectives.

Dedication of any kind has always been a stronghold at CPHS and remains so. The year 1983-84 was no exception as students followed an intense drive towards their set goals by way of this proclaimed dedication. This dedication involves a large array of fields from athletics to academics. Dedication on athletics is an essential guideline for any athlete to follow who must compete in setting a personal or team goal.

Student Council president, Jeff Georgas, and vice-president, Larry Geisen, run an I.D. card through the processing machine.

This drive involves the area of academics as well. College requirements demand a certain amount of dedication from students that will build a definite sense of pride and discipline as well. Students involved in all school activities must direct themselves in a positive way for any positive outcome.

All of these efforts, whether they are successful or not, are not lost. The balance and harmony of any particular school is determined by those individuals who dedicate themselves to their work. All of this dedication eventually spawns a bond of unity throughout the school. Unity is a state of oneness that two or more people share in accord or harmony with one another. This unity within the school was a complex or systematic whole that involved students, teachers, and community.

A certain air of unity seemed to draw the school together in an even tighter bond than expected. Unity has never been a prerequisite for the overall survival of any school, but it still remains an extremely important factor. As essential to any school as a sound educational system, a sense of unity lends anchorage to where it is needed most.

CPHS received tremendous support from the surrounding community. The support was always well-received and came through one way or another, knitting a cohesive bond.

Many students involved in various activities also lent their support with many community-related extracurricular activities. Teachers likewise worked within the area in order to further mold and shape events. It was this combined effort that worked together on an equal basis in order to build a better sense of unity as a whole. No one's effort was sought in vain. The result was the resounding success of school spirit.

WE are CP, WE have SPIRIT

School spirit and loyalty seem to go hand in hand and perhaps are one. School spirit seems to be a tired cliché. However hackneyed the team, school spirit seems to be thriving as much as ever before. Although graduation will seem to bring loss of memory and familiar faces will blur, distant in time and meaning, yet memories of CPHS will always live in the minds of its graudates.

During the year, school spirit soared and was not restricted to athletes but extended to academics as well. A sense of school spirit is a fulfillment that echoes through the lockers, the lined hallways, and into the very claustrophobic classrooms. It is a sense of pride, pride that comes through the hard work of one complete unit.

In turn, efforts do not go unnoticed, but they are rewarded most satisfactorily by the personal triumph of each student.

School spirit cannot be gauged only by the attendance at athletic events, but rather by the attitude of its student body. The past school year was filled with its share of excitement from extra-curricular activities.

The attitude was a good one, as students felt not only content with their accomplishments, but proud as well.

WE ARE PROUD TO BE CP!

It is obvious that no one year is perfect in any aspect of the word. With every day, problems arise, many of which are not solved merely by a trip to the principal's office or a five minute session with the guidance counselor. All things must pass, and inevitably they do. But for every negative setback that arises, there seems to be a handful of positive reasons to be more proud of CPHS.

Although few will admit to enjoying school and everything that goes with it, day after day, when it's all ended, students think otherwise. Soon these years of high school become only pages of a scrapbook of the mind kept alive in this yearbook.

Much, by any standard was accomplished in the year just past at CPHS, and it remains to be seen what else can be achieved in future years.

Luck permitting, CPHS will thrive for another 100 years more, and these signs of what it means to us will remain. Though it may not be a time that will be remembered by all who lived it, for us it was our time. That is something that can never be taken away from us. We are proud to be CP.

AND THE WINNERS ARE ...

On October 7, 1983, the Bulldog football team played the traditional Homecoming game against Calumet's Warrior team.

The next evening, October 8, nearly 250 teenage couples crowded the dance floor during the Homecoming Dance which celebrated the football team's victory of the previous evening. The Booster Club created the decor with the theme, "A Time for Us." This year's crowd was the largest Homecoming crowd in recent years.

The band, 911, had the enthusiastic couples rocking and bopping all evening to the music of top pop vocalists and groups, including David Bowie, The Police, and Men Without Hats. At 9 p.m., a hush fell over the rowdy teenage crowd as the music stopped and the Booster Club president, Cyndi Lear, took the microphone. It was time to announce this year's Homecoming Queen and Mr. Football. Applause and shouts rang out through the crowded room as the names of the lucky students were announced. The special honors were bestowed upon Nancy Cowan and Joe Kuehl, who were very proud of their new titles.

Around 10:30 p.m., the crowd slowly started to thin out. By 11 p.m., when the dance was officially over, almost no one was left to sway to the music or laugh over the corny jokes being told.

Homecoming

Spirit soars

October 3 started the Homecoming Spirit Week at Crown Point High School. Monday gave way to Class Colors Day. Freshmen with school spirit dressed in green, sophomores in yellow, juniors in blue, and seniors in red.

Tuesday was Baseball Appreciation Day. Students wore t-shirts, sweatshirts, and hats displaying their favorite baseball team. Even some teachers got into the action by wearing buttons proclaiming SOX or some other team name.

On Wednesday, even some non-jocks displayed their school spirit by wearing sweatsuits on Sweatsuit Day.

Thursday was an exciting day for many students. They could dress up and not be laughed at because it was Dress Up Day. For many teachers, this was the first and only time that they would see some of their students dressed up.

Friday brought Spirit Week to a close with Red and White Day. Many students, along with their red and white attire, wore spirit ribbons and hats, and carried Bulldog pom-pons that they had bought during the week.

Not only was Friday Red and White Day, it was the day of the Homecoming game. To pump up the spirit of students and teachers, an assembly was held during sixth hour. The cheerleaders led the school in cheering for the football team, and the assembly ended with the singing of the school song. Later Friday night the Bulldogs took on Calumet's Warrior football team. The team proved, by beating the Warriors, that Spirit Week is not only fun, but is also beneficial to the team's morale.

Turnabout is...

the once in a lifetime chance

Turnabout is the once in a lifetime chance for girls to reverse the role and fill the guys' shoes by asking them to the dance. For some the reverse role was a welcome change of pace, but for others it was an impossible task. As the dance drew nearer, whispers filled the halls: "Ask him, ask him, now's your chance." "No, I can't. He'll never say yes."

If he did say yes, the smiling girl attended the dance with the date of her choice, on the night of December 3 with Fools Heart as the evening's entertainment.

As in the past the queen and class princesses were drawn at random. Each class princess received a rose and the queen received four. The freshman class princess was Angie Rich; sophomore princess, Kim Witten; and junior princess, Tracy Bal. As the name was drawn for the 1983 Turnabout Queen, silence and excitement filled the room. The name tag was chosen and Becky McCoole was the lucky recipient of the title.

With the court selection complete, the silence again turned into noisy chatter. The dance floor was once again crowded with couples.

As 11 p.m. grew closer, the noise died down and the dance floor emptied. For seniors the Turnabout Dance will be a memory, but for the others, another dance will once again allow the chance for the switched roles and for the excitement of it all.

After the bell...
Student paths divide

After the final bell of the school day rings, students find themselves doing an array of activities. Some catch a bus for home and others find themselves scurrying off to practices. Each goes his separate way. One goes to McDonald's for work, and the other goes to Rax. One goes to band practice, and the other goes to basketball practice. Then there are those who go home to watch T.V. for the remainder of the prosperous day. Others talk on the phone for endless hours at a time. Some students go home and study, study, study. There are also those who go home and do absolutely nothing at all.

The weekend agenda is just as varied as after-school activities. While one finds immense satisfaction in sleeping the weekend away, another may find satisfaction in reading a book. For those who go, go, go, the weekend is a flurry of activities. First it's off to the big game, then time for a snack, then to a party, and lastly to the midnight show.

Although students have various interests, it seems that all have something that they consider worthwhile to do over the weekend and after the bell.

Prom holds lasting memories

Prom is the last dance of a high school career. The 1983-84 prom will hold lasting memories for the seniors of '84.

Prom took place at the Serbian Hall on Friday, May 4. The theme was "Color My World." The junior class president, Anne Kvachkoff, welcomed the crowd. Jenny Lambert led the dinner prayer.

Pawnz supplied the evening's entertainment for the fourth consecutive year. The group performed songs by popular artists as well as their own work.

The announcing of the queen and king took place at 9 p.m. The queen candidates were announced individually, and each received a single red rose and a gold charm with "Prom '84" engraved on it. Each of the king candidates received a keychain with "Prom '84" also engraved on it. Tina Head and Steve Gilrowski were named the queen and king of the dance.

After the crowning, the dancing continued until 11 p.m. Then friends parted and went their separate ways. Some went to parties or out to breakfast while others went to Chicago for a carriage ride.

The next day couples went to Indiana Beach, the Dunes, the Cubs' game, or various other places.

Graduates look to the future with different views

Commencement for the class of '84 was held on Friday, May 25 at 7 p.m. Four hundred eight seniors marched down the aisle to the traditional "Pomp and Circumstance" played by the high school band. Salutatorian Merit Erickson led the pledge of allegiance and then followed with the invocation. Nancy Cowan, senior class president, presented the class welcome to the seniors, their families, and their friends.

The baccalaureate message, "The Big 'R'," was presented by Rev. H. Lothar Thoelke of the Trinity Lutheran Church. Mark Thoelke and Kim Weber each gave their valedictory message. Then the senior choir members sang "Parting Blessing," which was conducted by Mr. Michael Wade.

Mr. Ken Brist then read the graduates names as members of the school board presented them with their diplomas. When this was completed, Mr. Charles R. Bigler, Superintendent, asked the graduates to stand. As tension mounted, Mr. Bigler officially graduated the class of '84. As the seniors moved their tassels from the left to the right, they showed many mixed emotions. Some shed tears of sadness while others shed tears of joy. All graduates looked to the future with different views and perspectives with the security of high school behind them and a world of discovering in front of them.

EXCALIBUR '84 emerges out of chaos

Voices filled the seemingly minute room as this year's new yearbook staff filed in, taking a seat where one could be found. With forty-eight enrollees, the staff was over twice the size of the previous year, accounting for mass confusion and a tightly closed door. Busy learning layouts, cutlines, copy, and cropping with much enthusiasm, the group struggled through the class, attempting to put together a yearbook worthy of Crown Point High School.

Deadlines were soon announced, with each student at work on an individual assignment. Contrary to the usual classroom atmosphere, Excalibur buzzed with excitement and sometimes frantic frustration, as everyone pulled together, working for the one finished product unique from all the rest. Enthusiasm mounted as the end crept closer with the yearbook almost completed. With never a wasted moment, time speeded up, the temporary stop of a busy, successful business grew near: a business with a staff of 48 members and one determined sponsor, Miss Eleanore Britton, all working together to create this year's special theme, "We are C.P."

Staff of 30 compiles literary magazine

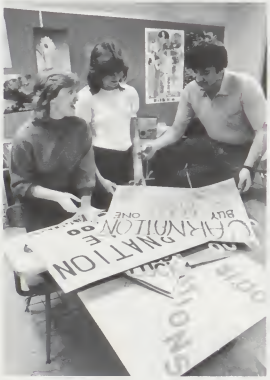

A Windfall staff of approximately 30 students met after school to put together the school's literary magazine. With jobs, sports, homework, and other activities competing for staff time, the staff persisted in its efforts to produce a quality magazine.

During first semester, contributions of poetry and short stories trickled in slowly. The editorial staff carefully weighed the merits of each contribution and decided which pieces met Windfall's criteria for acceptance to its pages.

During second semester as the staff began to receive more contributions, the magazine slowly began to take shape. Under the direction of Mrs. Laurie Likens, Windfall sponsor, and Mary Lopat, Windfall editor, the staff made decisions as to the number of pages to be included in the magazine and the choice of the cover and cover design.

Meanwhile, the business staff continued its efforts to sell advertising to help pay the printing costs of the magazine. After all the contributions were selected, the staff readied the copy for the printer. With layout, proofreading and photography completed, Windfall was ready to hit the presses. Once the staff had finished its final task, the selling of the magazine, the 1984 Windfall staff's task was completed.

Deadlines keep

Inklings staff scurrying

With a staff of eighteen journalists and five stringers, editor Chris Badowski and assistant editor Brad Much had the task of getting out a bi-weekly newspaper on schedule.

Once the editors decide which events to cover, they must assign stories to the staff, who have three to four days to write, type, and proofread their articles. While the reporters work on articles, the photography staff, headed by senior Eric Dillon, takes pictures, develops film, and prints pictures. Once the pictures and articles are ready, the editors make a dummy layout, write cutlines, and crop pictures.

During fourth hour, room E236 is a flury of activity as staffers rush about scheduling interviews, copyreading rough drafts, and typing the final copy.

Students on the Inklings staff have a difficult time since the paper comes out every other week.

Meanwhile, the business staff calls local businesses for ads to put in the paper. The business staff is also responsible for sending out papers to people who have mail orders.

When the papers are finally printed, the whole staff comes to school early to help count and distribute them. Staffers also sell papers during lunch hours.

Once an issue is "put to bed," no one has a chance to relax. They are all hard at work again, making the next issue of the Inklings.

Booster Club shows Crown Point spirit

Booster Club set out again to produce a memorable Homecoming Dance that accented Crown Point spirit and pride in the Bulldogs. The main event of the year, Homecoming became a special task for the club. Determined to prove their creativity and wanting to show their support for the winning team, Booster Club members spent weeks laying out the designs and perfecting every detail in order to dazzle and delight the crowd of dancers.

Booster Club planned the Morp Dance for those not going to Prom as well as those simply looking for a night away for a crazy change of attitude. The idea of Morp is that everything to do with the dance is exactly opposite from Prom, including the name. The decorations easily played this part up. Garbage was strung out over the floor such as empty cereal boxes, cans, and bathroom tissue. Refreshments included cookies and pop. The club worked very hard on this dance to achieve the atmosphere desired. They were successful in every way. The Morp Dance gave students a chance to express their relaxed, informal side. Booster Club once again showed the spirit of Crown Point High School.

Seniors proclaim top honors

This year, Kim Weber, Mark Thoelke, and Merit Erickson were honored with the titles co-valedictorians and salutatorian, respectively.

Faculty members received a list of those students considered for National Honor Society. Those students who received the required number of votes based on the individual's service, leadership, and character were invited to the National Honor Society Induction, where the formal induction into the honorary organization took place.

This year, NHS purchased an Indiana flag to fly with the United States flag on the new flag pole purchased by this year's graduating class. National Honor Society also purchased two display cases for recognition of students who excel in academic areas.

Those students who participated in Girls' and Boys' State joined 900 students from other schools for a week of education in government. They went to Indiana State University to learn how government works and to have a first hand chance at campaigning for a branch of government. Sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, the organization gave the students a chance to meet new people as well as the opportunity to govern.

Junior Kiwanians and Junior Rotarians, those seniors showing outstanding interest and involvement in the school, were selected to visit club meetings for a month. As guests, two members received an invitation to a specific club each month, where they sat in on club business and gave brief speeches concerning their experiences, interests, and goals for their future. The students joined the club members for luncheons and dinners. There they listened to film presentations and guest speakers. The participation in Kiwanians and Rotarians, requiring regular weekly attendance, gave the students a chance to speak in front of an adult audience and helped in combining the community with the student body.

Busy agenda marks Student Council

The 1983-1984 Student Council extended its services not only to students, but to the faculty and the community as well. They were able to do this through money earned through various fund raising activities such as after game dances, coke machine sales, and other activities. Faculty co-sponsor Mr. Dan Johnsen was responsible for the highly successful fund raising activities of the council.

The council started the year by electing officers and representatives for the freshman class to join the upper classmen elected the previous spring. Once elections were held, the council, with all classes represented, began to plan Homecoming festivities. The parade, the football victory, the crowning of Nancy Cowan as Homecoming Queen and Joe Kuehl as Mr. Football, the Powderpuff game, and the dance all blended together to create fond Homecoming memories.

After Homecoming the council turned its attention to Christmas and activities such as decorating the cafeteria, a toy drive for needy children, a faculty breakfast, a Faculty-Student Council Secret Pal project, and a visit from Santa Claus.

The busy year continued with activities such as a computer dating dance, a burger bash for students and teachers, a Faculty vs Student Council softball game, and an exchange date with other schools. The council treated the student body and staff to an assembly featuring Bill Sanders, an entertaining and inspiring speaker.

Classics '84, the school talent show was the highlight of the year for the Student Council. Students entertained the school and community with many talented acts including, singing, dancing, and comedy. The Student Council, under the leadership of President Jeff Georgas, achieved its goal of helping to make Crown Point High School a better place.

Lettermen, GVC sponsor annual balloon race

The Letterman's Club and the Girls' Varsity club started the 1983-84 school year with the twenty-third annual balloon race ticket sales. The balloons, each containing a ticket, were released prior to the homecoming festivities. Several letters were received. The three winning tickets were all found in Canada. The first place winner was Belen Gabato, whose balloon was found in Rothesa, New Brunswick. Second place winner Jewell Luke's balloon was found in Fredericton, New Brunswick. The third place balloon was found in Silverton, New Brunswick, and the winner was Ted Mace. Along with balloon race tickets, both clubs sold homecoming mums.

After Homecoming, the clubs raised money by selling programs at football and basketball games. With the money they raised, the clubs assembled Christmas baskets and delivered them to several families. Also at Christmas, the clubs caroled at nursing homes and hospitals. After Christmas, the clubs sold M&M's in order to save money for the GVC-Letterman's Senior Awards Banquet. At the banquet, varsity blankets were given to members who received seven major letters throughout their four years of athletic participation. Members receiving blankets were Nancy Cowan, Debbie Freche, Brian Donovan, Eric Fleming, David Crane, Scott Rench, Steve Brownlee, and Jim Eisenhutt. These seniors were also recognized for their regular attendance and contributions at meetings, and for their help at various athletic events.

Festive times bring together festive people

The Spanish Club is not just kids taking a Spanish Class, but kids really interested in the Spanish-speaking culture. This year, instead of having a president, vice-president, and treasurer, the club had an executive board with six members for both first and second semesters. The club held its annual button and poster design contest for foreign language week. Before Christmas vacation, the club members sang traditional Christmas carols. The Spanish Club raised money for the treasury by having two bake sales, one in Crown Point and the other in the Lakes of the Four Seasons. Both were very profitable.

The French Club really got involved in school activities this year. These activities included making foreign language buttons and posters for foreign language week. A week before Christmas vacation, the club sponsored its annual Buche de Noel contest. At the Foreign Language Christmas party, the club produced a play entirely in French. For the Bûche de Noel contest, club members made scrumptious log-like cakes with designs to show off their creativity. French Club members also went Christmas caroling in the classrooms to which they were invited. Members of the French Club enjoyed eating in a real French restaurant.

The German club participated in the float-building contest for Homecoming for their second year. In October, the club celebrated its own Octoberfest by going on an outing at the Lake County Fairgrounds. Early in November, the group had a real German meal at the home of one club member. Near Christmas time, they sold traditional Advent Calendars which contain a piece of candy for each day in Advent, increasing in size until Christmas Day. German Club also sold Gummi Bears to raise money for their trip to Indianapolis where they attended a Fasching, a German Mardi Gras, put on by the state organization of German clubs.

Latin Club attends convention

Each year the Latin Club visits sites in Chicago, including the museums, the zoo, Water Tower Place, and a Greek restaurant which Mrs. Ruth Kernagis chooses.

The Chariot Race aroused great interest in Latin students at Crown Point High School. Held in Indianapolis, the race attracted teams from 26 schools in Indiana. The CPHS team finished second.

At the Saturnalia, the traditional Latin Banquet honored fourth year Latin students for all the hard work and devotion they put into their study of Latin.

The Latin Club Certamen team competes in Latin word fights against teams from other schools.

Latin Club members attend a convention during the school year, and a few members attend the National Convention in the summer. Clubs have industrious year

This year the Art and Mural Club experienced the advice of a professional artist other than the teachers when Mr. Larry Kaufman came to Crown Point High School as its first artist-in-residence. He assisted the club with murals in the health hall, as well as in Mrs. Lucy Pruitt's room in the foreign language hall. Mr. Kaufman, enjoying his responsibilities and freedom here, said he liked having the ability to affect others.

Despite film trip cancellations and interference from various other obligations, Photography Club, sponsored by Mr. Al Gruber, managed a successful year. Instructional meetings were held during which students learned proper operation of the camera and the many techniques used. Field trips were taken and photography sessions scheduled in which students had the opportunity to capture each other in a unique, creative pose.

Biology Club, sponsored by Mr. Charles Bowman and Mrs. Phyllis Wayco, took field-trips to Purdue Med and Vet Schools and Notre Dame. They also went to Valpo where they attended a genetic mutation lecture. Mr. Bowman cooked turkeys for their Thanksgiving dinner, and later in the spring the members all contributed to a members only picnic.

Students develop new skills

HOE, Health Occupations Education, sponsors several activities throughout the school year, including a Fall Youth Rally for members to further their skills in the health field. HOE also sponsors a Student Recognition Day in April and a blood drive in December. Along with these activities, the members visit a nursing home to become acquainted with the elderly. HOE elects officers to run various meetings.

HOSA, (Health Occupation Students of America) members strengthen their abilities in the health field as the members prepare for their future careers.

Cooperative Office Education, COE, is an organization which trains members for a job. These members also receive a paycheck and earn high school credit. To become eligible for COE, members must be interviewed by the sponsor.

Aides help staff

Student aides wear a cheerful face as they come and go throughout the school. Office aides perform many duties including picking up attendance slips, filing cards, and getting students for counselors and administrators to talk to. Teachers' aides grade papers, type quizzes, keep records, collate and staple tests and handouts, and do many other things which help teachers.

Student aides lighten the load of the office personnel and teachers by performing time-consuming, routine tasks of the school system. They do things that staff members don't have time to do. Life would be a lot harder for the faculty if they didn't have students who contribute their time and effort to the school.

Besides building lasting friendships with teachers and administrators, student aides gain valuable experience in accepting responsibility.

Royal Regiment works hard to perfect peformance

During the summer of 1983, all the band members got together for one week under the direction of Mr. Richard DeWees to put a field show together with music for competition and practice marching for parades. During this week the band learned much from all the hard work that was put into preparing a finer performance from The Royal Regiment. By the time the first of five home football games rolled around, Crown Point's marching band had planned a show ready to perform.

This year's awards, received with pride and dignity, were many. They were first place in the Lowell Labor Day Parade, fifth place in the Chesterton Invitational, first division-superior rating in both the ISSMA District and ISSMA Regional Contests at Lewis Cass High School, and third place at the Kokomo Invitational. At each contest the band followed one of the three top five bands in the state. The fact that these bands were two and a half times larger than The Royal Regiment did not slow the band. They still did very well.

This year's drum majors helped to achieve perfection. They were senior Cindy Ledzius and junior Ron Bukovac. Cindy and fellow senior Amy Pickering, as captains of the color guard, put together the routines that the flag and rifle corps did during each performance. Much time and effort was put into both routines and at the end of the year it paid off generously.

Orchestra, sinfonietta, bands receive superior ratings

With the help and direction of Mr. James Deal and Mr. Richard DeWees, the orchestra, sinfonietta, and concert bands prospered at contests.

The sinfonietta received a first place-superior rating at district and at state. At the ISSMA organizational contest, the orchestra placed in the superior range for the fifth consecutive year under the direction of Mr. James Deal. The orchestra participated in many concerts. Along with the a cappella choir, the orchestra performed at St. Matthias Church in November. The orchestra also held a Christmas concert and a spring concert. Mr. Tom Wilkens, conductor of the Northwest Indiana Youth Orchestra, was the special guest speaker at the orchestra's end of the year banquet. It was held at The Raging Bull in Merrillville.

The concert, symphony, and freshman bands all had a fine showing at contest this year. The concert and freshman bands received a first division-superior rating. The symphony band got a first division-superior in both performance and in sight reading. All the bands are under the direction of Mr. Richard DeWees. All the bands participated in the winter concert, an ISSMA preview before ISSMA organizational contest, and the spring concert. Madrigal, Thespian, Drama Groups

Enliven year's agenda

Madrigals, a group of singers selected by audition, became very active once they were chosen. In December, the Madrigals performed 27 times in 18 days for business organizations, women's clubs, church groups, and local schools.

The Madrigals presented the eleventh annual Elizabethan Christmas Banquet at the Lakes of the Four Seasons Ball Room. Over 40 students recreated a sixteenth century castle for this occasion. The Elizabethan banquet got underway with Glenn Lang, senior, serving as master of the house while Cindy Ledzius, senior, acted as chamberlain.

Brass players, jugglers, carolers, and a traveling acting group brought laughter and festivity to the annual banquet.

Promotion of the theater is the key to success for the 17 drama students. Again this year the drama students co-produced A Christmas Carol with a local acting group, the Playmakers, For the hit musical Annie, the drama students attained costumes from local resale shops and donations from the community. The beds in the orphanage for Annie were donated by the Lake County Jail, then sawed in half, sandpapered, and repainted for the play.

The Thespians represent continuation of drama, based on accomplishment. This honorary group's members must earn 10 points. Thespians from schools all over the world are invited to Ball State to learn the production steps other schools follow and to exchange and compare their experiences as participants in the field of drama.

Choirs face busy agenda of concerts, contests

A Cappella choir, consisting of both boys and girls, performed in a classical concert with the orchestra in November. Five student soloists from Valparaiso University and Professor Newman Powell were also at this concert. On March 16, at Highland, and A Cappella choir sang at the Lake County Choral Festival with six other nearby schools. On Veterans Day and Memorial Day they sang at the City Ceremonies.

Many students chose to participate in the solo and ensemble contest, developing their own poise and vocal expertise. The Choir Department had three recitals by students to give those with exceptional talent a chance to perform serious vocal works in a public setting. All choirs also had a bake sale each morning before school to raise money for new stoles.

As in previous years the Choral Department sponsored the Crown Point High School musical. This year's production was the Broadway version of Annie. In all there were over 90 people involved in the production.

Drama group stages 'Harvey'

Harvey, seen only as Wes Morris opening and closing doors, is a pooka, which is a very large, six-foot tall magic rabbit possessing many powers, especially invisibility. He befriends alcoholics, dreamers searching for a better life, and anyone who needs help.

Elwood P. Dowd, a kind, gentle, sensitive person, played by Larry Wirtz, is a character whom Harvey chooses to help, and Elwood never doubts the rabbit's words. He believes in him completely. When Elwood arrives at his sister's high society tea party with Harvey, his sister, Veta Louise (Leslie Cochran) and her daughter, Myrtle Mae (Pam Phillips), not seeing the invisible Harvey, conclude that Elwood must be crazy.

Veta decides to take Elwood to the local mental asylum where she tries to have him committed. During the interview, the staff of doctors misunderstands her, thinking Veta sees the rabbit, locking her up instead. Realizing the mistake, Dr. Chumley, played by Albert Massa, begins to see Harvey.

Steve Ary played Judge Gatheney, and Shelby Baize played Dr. Lyman Sanderson. The problem of Harvey's existence is finally resolved, with Harvey going to live with Elwood. No one is committed, and all are happy in the end.

'Annie' attracts large audience

The play Annie was the first amateur production in the region. The production of the play Annie began in New York in 1924. Contrary to expectations, students were cast in the role of the orphans. The props, such as the beds, were borrowed from the Lake County jail. Mrs. Pat Wilber and Shae Bailey made the costumes. For the first time the three-way drop system was used for the background scenery. Instead of using a stuffed animal for a dog in the play, a well-trained Doberman pinscher was used.

Twenty-five high school girls tried out for the part of Annie. From these twenty-five girls, Donna McGinley was chosen for the part. About a hundred students were involved in the production of the play Annie. Credit is due to the members of the band and orchestra who played in the pit, the crew workers, and the actors and actresses who performed in the play. Performances of the play Annie ran from March 10 through March 18. The play turned out to be one of the most successful plays in recent years according to Mr. Marion Kellum, dramatic director. For every performance, a large audience was present. In fact this production had the best attendance in the last five years.

Classics '84 includes five categories

Outstanding performances by everyone involved helped to achieve an excellent production of the Student Council's Fifth Annual Talent Show entitled "Classics '84." Miriam McCracken served as stage manager, Don Schilling as head of technical direction, and Mr. Marion Kellum as adviser. The Masters of Ceremony were Mr. Brad Smith, Miss Marilee Thanholdt, Crown Point High School teachers, and Chris Badowski, senior.

Included in "Classics '84" were seventeen acts in five different categories. Awards of a trophy and $25 were given to the winners. The overall winner recieved $75 and a plaque. The winner in the category of comedy was senior Larry Wirtz with his rendition of "My Freshman Year." Winning in the section of piano was junior Stefi Barber playing "Toccata." The female vocal winner was Karalyn Klein, a sophomore, who did a song and dance to "Second Hand Rose." The male vocal contestant who won the trophy for the third time was senior Dave Carl, who sang his very own song entitled "Goodbyes." The winner in the dance category was Debbie Epperson, a senior, who danced to the song "A Special Place." Finally, Stefi Barber was the overall winner chosen from the five trophy winners. Her name was put on a plaque to go in the office for all to see.

Proceeds from "Classics '84" go toward the Larry Radinsky Memorial Grant which provides a scholarship to a graduating senior. The award is given at the senior awards banquet at the end of the school year.

Seniors

School ends, paths divide

"What exactly is a senior?" When asked this question, senior students had many different replies. One felt that the seniors were the established leaders of most school functions, clubs, sports, and extracurricular activities. Another said, "You can spot a senior in a minute. They're the ones that are scrambling about to fill out college applications and take the SAT one more time in hopes of improving their scores."

In early December, students were measured for caps and gowns. They began making hotel and airline reservations for such places as Fort Lauderdale and Daytona Beach, Florida for spring break. Although senior year was almost half way over, the idea that seniors had only one semester of high school left had yet to sink in.

When spring arrived, senioritis (senior spring fever) set in. Seniors became restless and lazy and couldn't wait to graduate.

Before they knew it, it was May, the last month of high school. The first week in May was Prom, the long-awaited dance of the year. Prom brought lasting memories for those seniors who attended.

With Prom over, graduation grew nearer and nearer. During the past four years of high school, students built close ties with friends and faculty members. Students began to have uncertainties about the future. Personal aims and goals won't be so easily obtained and high school security won't be there to fall back on.

During the past four years seniors have gone their separate ways, but on May 25 commencement served as the unifying bond of the class of '84. This is where school ends and life begins.

Seniors make year something to remember

Showing school spirit was one thing the class of 1984 did very well.

Homecoming was a prime example of this extraordinary school spirit. Seniors throughout Crown Point High became involved in the various homecoming activities.

During the weeks preceding homecoming, seniors gathered at Patti Petro's house to work on the senior float. Their hard work paid off on Friday night as the senior class was announced the winner of the float competition.

Senior girls also participated in the annual powderpuff football game. The senior girls showed their spirit and determination by defeating the juniors.

The seniors who had not taken part in any of the other homecoming activities came dressed in red and white to watch the Bulldogs beat the Calumet Warriors in the Homecoming football game. This victory gave many couples who attended the dance on Saturday night something more to celebrate.

The winning season of the Lady Bulldog's basketball team gave the seniors another chance to show their school spirit. The seniors came in record numbers to cheer on the Lady Bulldogs.

Even seniors who hadn't attended any previous games traveled to Lafayette and Indianapolis dressed in red and white to cheer for the Lady Bulldogs.

After the championship game, many seniors went to the Indianapolis Hilton to attend a party held to congratulate the Lady Bulldogs.

As senior year came to a close, the great support of the seniors made this year something to remember always.

Seniors escape before new state laws take effect

The class of '84 was the last class ever to have early release at Crown Point High School. A new state law indicated that Indiana schools could no longer provide early release for their students.

Seniors with early release had a variety of items to do. Some students held jobs while others went home to watch the afternoon soap operas. A few students just drove around town to pass the time away and to amuse themselves.

The new state law also caused the '84-'85 school days to begin prcmptly at 7:30 instead of the usual 8 a.m. Seniors felt very lucky to escape having to get up a half hour earlier.

The traditional ditch day will be cherished for its happy memories. Many seniors went to sandy beaches and area parks to celebrate their day off together.

Another traditional day for seniors was the Senior Banquet. Hours were spent eating, dancing, and having a great time together as the class of '84. Special awards were also given out to seniors with extraordinary characteristics during their time at CPHS. This year's Senior Banquet was given by the parents instead of the school.

Kathy Keller overcomes fears and obstacles

Kathy Keller is a familiar figure at Crown Point High School. Although she is handicapped, she works hard to keep up her grades in math, history, English, and home economics. Her ambition in life is to attend Indiana University and to eventually become a nurse. She readily admits to being scared, and she also fears rejection. But with the help of teachers and friends, she has overcome the fears and obstacles that have been in her way.

Kathy admires Geri Jewell, from the series "Facts of Life," because she has taught Kathy that the greatest fears and obstacles of being handicapped can be overcome. Although Kathy has had some good and bad experiences at Crown Point High School, she will always remember the good ones and all the great friends that have helped her. Now that Kathy is graduating, she feels great to be able to achieve something that she has always wanted. She thinks it is wonderful to be leaving, but she will be missed by all her friends.

face new tasks and decisions

The junior class at Crown Point High School is like a flower ready to bloom, but waiting for the right moment. Each student is like a petal of a rose, each the same, yet different in a way all its own. Each petal has its own idea what direction it will take, knowing that it has to still fit into the pattern. This is much like the students who are in their third year at CPHS. Each one has an idea, or is trying to decide which path his or her life will take. Many of them take part-time jobs to help them decide what kind of work will make them happy, while staying inside the boundaries of what society will accept.

Like a rosebud waiting to burst in a spray of color, Crown Point High School juniors wait to burst into their lives as seniors, and then as adults. For juniors, this is a year for preparation. They take tests and try to decide which college they can and want to attend. These students act much like a flower during the winter storing up the energy and color that will produce the best results.

With the coming of spring, the flower's petals start to unfold and juniors start to narrow their choices of colleges and careers. By June, the flower is in full bloom and juniors are ready to enter into their final year of high school when they will try their best to finalize the plans they made for their lives.

face new experiences and adventures

This year's sophomores are much like every other year's sophomores in one respect: They all say, "Thank goodness we're not freshmen anymore!" This gives them a feeling of greater confidence. The sophomores' spirit is high when they go to football and basketball games. The class of '86 produces more and more spirit as time goes by.

Soon after the beginning of the year, sophomores realized that they had to work harder and spend longer hours on their homework. They soon learned that sleeping through geometry wouldn't help them learn how to prove a theorem. They found health, another sophomore class, both interesting and fun.

One thing sophomores prove to be doing more of this year is going to the school-sponsored dances. After the excitement of Homecoming cooled down, sophomore girls got the chance to ask the guy of their choice to go to turnabout. Since this was their second chance to ask a guy to attend Turnabout, the girls were more comfortable with the idea of asking one. Many girls had boyfriends who already took it for granted that they would be attending the dance. For many sophomore girls, this was the first Turnabout Dance they attended. They had a ball!

As the school year came to a close, sophomores realized that next year they would no longer be silly sophomores. They would be jumpin' juniors.

Freshmen face new challenges and delights

Freshmen spent their first few days at Crown Point High School wandering through the halls trying to find classrooms. Many of them even came to class late because they had a tough time making their way through the hallways crowded with bodies. After about a week, when teachers began to count tardies, freshmen perfected their own techniques of how to push and shove themselves past the other students, who were trying to get to their own classes on time. After a few weeks, school wasn't over at 2:35 p.m.; it was over whenever practices and meetings were dismissed. Students stayed after school for a variety of clubs and sports.

Freshmen faced new challenges and delights during their first year at the high school. Besides facing scholastic challenges with harder classes and stricter teachers, freshmen faced conflicts as the bottom men on the social totempole. Many students were put down by their peers because of their position as freshmen, and many of them had to prove themselves as equals. Once they did that, freshmen began to reap the rewards high school life has to offer. Besides sports events and dances, freshmen were invited to parties by other students, ranging from other freshmen to seniors.

Homecoming was a treat for freshmen as their first big dance. Corsages had to be bought, and many couples went out to dinner before the dance. After the excitement of Homecoming fizzled, students began to make plans for their first Turnabout. Relatively few freshmen attended Turnabout. Girls hadn't yet reached a point of confidence with teenage guys to the point that they would even ask one of them to the dance, much less risk being turned down.

By the end of the year, the freshmen were ready to become sophisticated sophomores.

Cross country captures first in Conference and Regionals

The boys' Cross country team continued its winning ways. The season was highlighted by the team's 11th consecutive Lake Suburban title. The team also captured the IHSAA Regional crown.

The harriers seized first at the Rebel and Culver Invitationals. The 'Dogs finished 2nd in the Snider Hokum-Karem and 5th in a field of 16 teams in the Illiana Invitational. Headed by team captain Brian Donovan, the CP team held a record of 16-0 in non-invitational meets.

In junior varsity action, the harriers finished 11th in a field of 26 teams in the Rich East Sophomore Invitational. The freshmen finished 3rd in a field of 20 teams in the Rich East Freshmen Invitational.

Individual achievements include a first place finish in Conference by senior Scott Rench with a time of 16:16. Eric Dillon also pulled through for the Bulldogs with a 5th place finish in Sectionals. The top harrier in Regionals was Steve Brownlee with a time of 16:44. Rench was the only Bulldog to qualify for State. Running one of Indiana's toughest course, Rench placed 12th with a time of 15:32.

Jim Krampen, Rench, and Brownlee were named to the LSC All-Conference First Team. Rench was also named to the Indiana Track and Cross Country Coaches All-State Team.

Rench was crowned the Bulldogs Most Valuable Runner. Donovan was named Most Improved and Bob Doolin was awarded Most Promising Freshman.

Major letters were earned by Donovan, Rench, Krampen, Brownlee, Dillon, Neal Wilber, Chris Trajkovski, Tim Zanellato, Chad Stewart, Chris Fisher, Eric Cwiok, Dominic Zanetti, and Darren Morrison.

Bragdon, Bodnar, Bal set pace as Lady harriers finish strong

Hard practices, strong endurance, and team spirit have led the injury-prone girls' cross country team to a 10:2 season, an improvement over last year's 5:4 season.

Six of the cross country runners were injured at various times throughout the season. Jenny Lambert started the season as the top runner. After a stress fracture in her left femur, Jenny was unable to complete the season's competition.

Other runners to withdraw because of injury were Cathy Gritton, Kim Witten, and Rita Miller. All of these injuries accounted for the drop in the team's ranking as the season progressed.

In the Fort Wayne Snider Invitational, the team placed 2nd in a field of 17 teams. Also, at the Culver Invitational, the girls placed 2nd in a field of 7 teams.

The girls took second behind conference rivals Highland in a field of five teams at the Lake Suburban Conference meet.

The sectional meet brought the girls a 3rd place finish against 9 other teams.

At the 16-team regional meet, the Lady Bulldogs placed 5th.

Lisa Bragdon was awarded the title of Most Valuable Runner. Kellie Bal was awarded the title of Most Promising Freshman. The Most Improved Runner was Missy Garcia.

Lisa Bragdon and Cindi Bodnar were named to the Lake Suburban Conference All-Conference first team.

Kellie Bal was named to the LSC All-Conference second team.

"I was pleased with our performance toward the end of the year. We just missed qualifying for the state meet, and with some luck, next year we should be in the thick of things as we return our top three runners," said Coach Ken Witt to summarize his team's accomplishments.

Netters capture Sectionals, have winning season finale

The Bulldog boys' tennis team, coached by Tom May, continues the winning ways of the fall sports teams by posting a 17-4 season record. The team also managed to capture first place in Sectionals and second place in the Lake Suburban Conference.

Co-captains Charlie Kammann and Steve Gilrowski alternated between first and second singles, with Kammann posting a record of 16-6, and Gilrowski ended 10-8. Third singles player, John Starr, added an impressive 15-7 record. The first doubles team of Rick Caldwell and Brian Spinks reinforced the singles players with a 14-7 mark. The awesome second duo of Adrian Garshnek and Mike Banashak streaked to a 16-2 record and, in the process, took the Highland Invitational 3rd Doubles Championship.

Charlie Kammann was named the team's most valuable player. John Starr was named the team's most improved player, and Rick Caldwell displayed the best positive mental attitude. Also, the doubles team of Adrian Garshnek and Mike Banashak was given the most productive award. Banashak also received the Bulldog Award for the best enthusiasm. Kammann, Gilrowski, and the Garshnek-Banashak team received 2nd Team All Conference honors.

The team finished 5-1 in the Conference, losing only to 1st ranked Munster. After sweeping through Sectionals, the Bulldogs were beaten in Regionals by long-time rival Munster. Gilrowski and Kommann will be the only lettermen graduating.

Lady Spikers wear LSC crown with best record in CP history

The Lady Bulldog Volleyballers turned in the best fall sports record with an astounding total of 25 wins and 4 losses. Along the way, the team captured the Lake Surburban Conference championship with a perfect 6-0 record and also won the Sectional championship and were Regional Finalists.

The ladies opened the season with a tough non-conference schedule. After a loss to Hammond Morton, wins over Merrillville, Valparaiso, Chesterton and Bishop Noll followed. As the team entered conference play, they were riding a seven game winning streak.

In near perfect fashion, the ladies disposed of Highland, 15-5 and 15-2. Munster, always a tough opponent, played well before succumbing to the Bulldogs in the third game 16-14. After breezing by Griffith, the Bulldogs took on unbeaten conference foe Lake Central. It took three games but the Bulldogs finally prevailed. Only Lowell and Calumet remained in the path of the Bulldogs. Both teams had very good records. In classic style, the Bulldogs won the last two games at Calumet, 13-15, 17-15, and 15-8, and then swept Lowell, for the outright conference championship, 14-12 and 13-10. Throughout the Sectionals the favored Bulldogs played well in defeating Griffith, 16-14, and 15-0, then Lake Central, 15-11 and 15-13, and finally Calumet 10-15, 15-4, and 15-11.

In the Regionals, the ladies defeated a tough Hammond Morton squad, 9-7 and 14-11. Then came arch-rival Merrillville. After losing the first game, the Bulldogs came back and won the second, but in the final game they were beaten 15-9, ending the season.

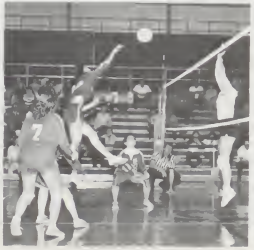

The finest volleyball team in the school's history included Patty Foyer, Debbie Freche, Anne Nerney, Lisa Skora, Sheila Cope, Jennifer Hargis, Anne Kvachkoff, Colleen Stewart and Joyce Lain. The team was coached by Mrs. Sallee Malinich. In the coach's words, "What a year!"

Hindson, Maloney set records; Lady swimmers improve season

Under first year coaches, Ken Seaman and Belinda Wertz, the swimming Lady Bulldogs showed a marked improvement from the previous two years. The lady swimmers placed fourth in the Conference Meet and fifth in the Sectional Meet. The final meet record for the team was 10 wins and 5 losses.

Throughout the year, the ladies were led by senior Jenifer Morris and freshman Julie Hindson. Morris was named the team's most valuable swimmer. Coach Seaman also cited Tricia Maloney in the breastroke, Theresa Vasco in the butterfly, Kathy Collier in the distance events, and diver Patty Vicari as valuable assets to the team.

In the Lake Suburban Conference, the team concluded with a record of 4 and 2. Wins over Griffith, Calumet, Lowell, and Lake Central, coupled with losses to Highland and powerhouse Munster, prepared them for the Conference Meet. First place ribbons were won by Julie Hindson in the 200 individual medley and 100 freestyle, and Tricia Maloney in the 50 freestyle and 100 breaststroke. In the Sectionals, the team did not qualify for the state, but Julie Hindson was again a double winner, and the 200 medley relay team of Hindson, Tricia Maloney, Jenifer Morris, and Theresa Vasco qualified. Patty Vicari also qualified in diving. Only Hindson went on to the final events in which she placed 5th in both the 50 and 100 freestyle events.

In assessing the season, Coach Seaman remarked, "It was a pretty good year considering last year." He went on to say, "We're a fairly young team; we should improve even more next year."

Bullfrogs surpass season goal

Winning has become a common event for Crown Point athletes. The boys' swim team was no exception this season. Through hard work and effort, the Bulldogs placed third in the Lake Suburban Conference. The team surpassed that goal by winning Sectionals.

Coach Ron Coghill said, "It took the whole team to win, not just a few individuals, but there were many outstanding individual performances."

Outstanding performances were turned in by Eric Jacobsen, who placed seventh in diving at the Indianapolis State Meet. Other swimmers making the trip to State were Brian Donovan, Matt Marshall, Mike Pepa, Rich Seaman, Bob Starzynski, and Randy Venema.

The Bullfrogs scored 13th place at State with the 400 relay team of Marshall, Donovan, Pepa, and Venema.

The 1983-84 season proved to do exceptionally well as many personal bests were turned in.

Seniors leaving the team are Bob Starzynski, Brian Donovan, Charlie Kammann, Darren Morrison, Eric Jacobsen, Larry Lesnick, and Randy Venema.

The team finished with a 7-6-1 dual record.

Yohe, Brugos lead 'Dogs to winning season

The 1983-84 varsity basketball Bulldogs concluded a second straight successful season under head coach Jim Black. The squad finished 12-9 on the season and 4-2 in conference play.

The Bulldogs started slowly but picked up speed during the middle part of their schedule. At one point the Bulldogs won eight out of ten games, including wins over Calumet, 62-57; Munster, 54-53; Lowell, 86-42; Highland, 61-44 and Andrean, 52-36. The team finished strong with wins against Duneland foes Valparaiso, 47-46; Chesterton, 44-43; and Portage, 61-53.

Going into Sectional play, the highflying Bulldogs drew the 20th ranked Lake Central Indians. In a game soon forgotten, the 'Dogs were put away early by the state final-bound Indians 74-33.

Tom Yohe led the Bulldogs with a 16.5 points per game average, followed by John Brugos, with a 13.5 average. The leading rebounder for the season was John Brugos with a 9.2 rebounds per game average. Tom McConnell was second in rebounds with a 5.5 average. Other team leaders included Art Equihua and Don Rospond. The supersub roles belonged to departing senior John Augsburger and junior Scott Becker. The season was complete team effort.

JV 'Dogs sport five-game streak

Under Coach Svihra, the Junior Varsity Basketball Bulldogs finished the season 9-11 and 4-2 in conference play.

The Bulldogs played very well at the beginning of the season and slacked off until Christmas when they went on a five-game winning streak. Wins over Andrean, Calumet, Munster, Merrillville, and Lowell were included.

The top scorer for the J.V. was Todd Hammel with a 8.7 points per game average followed by Bill Sanders who chipped in a 8.3 average. Other top players included Doug Rosenbaum and John Verduzco.

Coach Svihra commenting on the season said, "The kids worked hard in games and practices. Everyone improved."

The freshman squad under Coach Chuck Smoljan finished a terrific season, 16-2. The Bulldogs went undefeated in the Lake Suburban Conference.

The team played well all year. Big wins were recorded over Valparaiso, 54-51; and Bishop Noll, 61-42. The win against Valpo was only the second loss of the season for the Vikings, and the win over Noll was the first win against them since Coach Smoljan came to the high school seven years ago. The Bulldogs also won the Munster Frosh Tourney by beating Highland and beating Munster by one point in the championship game, 46-45.

The leading scorer for the Bulldogs was John Pappas with a 11.0 points per game average. Greg Smith was next with a 10.0 point average. Leading rebounders were Jon Rios and Mike Socci. Also, the leading assist man was Jim Vagenas. The team also has a 50.1 points per game scored.

Lady Bulldogs take STATE

It's over-time, and the official has just thrown the ball into the air, and there are three minutes on the clock. The score is tied 50 all as the Lady Bulldogs fight to the finish. The Bulldogs lead by one at 51 and again at 53 only to be edged out by Warren Central.

Finally, with 59 seconds left, Anne Kvachkoff drove into the lane to finish the Warriors off. Thus the Lady Bulldogs became State Champions, an honor never before won by a Crown Point basketball team in the school's more than 100 year history.

The Lady Bulldogs grabbed another Lake Suburban Conference title with a record of 6-0. Gina Galambos, Anne Kvachkoff, Sandy Grabowski, Merrit Erickson, and Nancy Cowan were all named to the All-Conference team.

When the team earned the Sectional Championship, Galambos, Kvachkoff, Grabowski, Erickson, and Cowan proved winners were named to the All-Sectional team.

Kvachkoff, Grabowski, Erickson, and Cowan received All-Regional positions as the Lady 'Dogs grabbed another crown.

The pain of bruises, scrapes, bumps and elbowed ribs was eased when the Lady Bulldogs earned the Semi-State diadem, and Kvachkoff and Cowan received All-Semi-State honors.

The Super-Bulldogs finished the state tourney as "super champs." The champs had Cowan, Erickson, and Grabowski, and Kvachkoff all named to the All-State team, while Gina Galambos was on the injured players' list. At this tourney, Cowan was also named IHSAA Mental Attitude Winner, and Kvachkoff was named Most Valuable Player.

Other personal awards included Nancy Cowan as a member of the Indiana All-Star team, All Northern Indiana player; Grabowski, All Northern Indiana; Kvachkoff, All-Northern Indiana and Northern Indiana Player of the Year.

Weilbaker, Miller, Stokes advance to Indy State final

The 1983-84 Varsity and J.V. wrestlers under Coach Scott Vlink turned in one of their best seasons to date.

Three senior wrestlers, Gary Weilbaker in the 145 lb. division, Jeff Stokes at the 138 lb. level, and Ken Miller at the 126 lb. level all qualified for the State Tournament at Market Square Arena in Indianapolis. Weilbaker was the only Bulldog to advance before losing in the second round.

Good seasons were also turned in by Jim Bogash, who was 20-8 in the 119 lb. division, and Brian Kipp, who was 22-7-1 at the 155 lb. level. The Mental Attitude Award was won by Gary Weilbaker, while the Most Improved Wrestler Award went to Jeff Stokes. The Most Valuable Wrestler Award went to a very deserving Gary Weilbaker.

The J.V. wrestlers also turned in a fine season. Great seasons were recorded by Tom Wolber in the 119 lb. division and George Neeley at the 132 lb. level. Tim Cope and Les Riggle also had good seasons.

Varsity Coach Vlink remarked, "The J.V. wrestled well all year. There are many potential varsity wrestlers on this year's squad." The varsity's final season's record was 7-8 and junior varsity's record was 9-8-1. The varsity team will lose Miller and Weilbaker to graduation.

Foeller captures third at Indy State Meet

The girls' gymnastics team tumbled to a great season this year with an optional record of 8-1 and an intermediate record of 6-3. Those competing at the optional level were Meg Bullock, Seurina Foeller, Kristen Coburn, Tammy Boggess, and Amy Love. Girls competing at the intermediate level were Julie Fleming, Letitia Finley, Patsy Cook, Becky Belei, Diane Williams, and Anne Kammann.

At Regionals, junior Seurina Foeller tied for third in the optional all-around with a score of 36.05. Foeller "vaulted" her way to a fifth place score of 8.65 and tied for third on bars. Seurina qualified for state in the all-around competition. Kristen Coburn competed in the floor exercises at the optional level and finished with a score of 8.95. Another state qualifier was freshman Tammy Boggess, who competed only on the beam and scored an 8.85 for second place.

At the state meet in Indianapolis, Seurina Foeller took third on the bars for Crown Point's only points. Freshman Tammy Boggess placed ninth in the meet on the balance beam, an event she had strong showing in all season.

"We are proud of the girls," said Coaches Wirtz and Johnsen.

Pom's tradition lives with style

Under the guidance of a new sponsor, Jodi Durachta, the CP-ettes captured a new look. A group of 26 girls performed dancing routines during basketball halftimes. The dances were performed to such popular tunes as "Beat It," "Ease On Down The Road," "Sweet Georgia Brown," and "Thriller."

The CP-ettes sold candy and had a door-to-door bake sale as fund raisers. The short season was wrapped up with a banquet. At the dinner the girls received awards for their performances.

Varsity cheers CP to victory

We are CP! We are CP! The familiar chant rang out across the football field and throughout the gymnasium. The varsity cheerleaders sang the school song to lead Crown Point's athletes to victory.

Last summer the varsity cheerleading squad attended NCA camp at Vincennes University. The squad received three superior ribbons and one excellent ribbon. The cheerleaders were also honored to receive a spirit stick for enthusiasm.

The squad raised money by holding a summer clinic for elementary school girls. Another fund raiser during the summer was a newspaper drive.

During the school year the cheerleaders sold CP painter's hats. The most profitable project was sponsoring the annual Turnabout dance.

During basketball season male cheerleaders were added to the squad.

Cheerleaders boost teams with pep pride

The junior varsity cheerleaders, consisting of two sophomores and four juniors, had a busy schedule this year. Starting off in July, the girls attended the United States Cheerleading Association camp at Ball State University. The girls represented Crown Point well and were invited to Nationals in Lansing, Michigan. However, the girls were unable to attend. During football season, the girls have one game a week and practice every Tuesday after school. Basketball season is a little more hectic for them. They cheer, on the average two to three games a week not including pep sessions. All in all, the junior varsity cheerleaders have represented all of the junior varsity teams with pep and pride.

The freshman cheerleaders also attended a USCA cheerleading camp at Notre Dame University from July 31 to August 3. The girls received first place ribbons and the spirit doll. The team was asked to compete at Nationals, and Tammy Boggess and Kellie Bal were asked to attend.

Wilber finishes sixth at State

Coach George Tachtiris led the boys' track team on a roller-coaster type season this year. Many outstanding individual efforts were turned in that offset this year's 1-5 season record. In the two big meets, the Hobart "Little 5" and the Lowell relays, the team placed second. In dual meets against conference foes, the team was 0-4 with two cancellations at Munster and Highland.

New records were set this year by pole vaulter Jim Eisenhutt and distance runner Neal Wilber. Eisenhutt cleared a record 13 feet at the Lowell relays, and Neal Wilber out ran everybody at the Griffith Sectionals with a meet record 4:16.6 in the 1600 meter run.

At the Conference Meet, firsts were recorded by Eisenhutt in the pole vault, Wilber in the 1600 meter run, and Steve Lamore in the high jump.

The Bulldogs had two Sectional winners. They were Lamore in the high jump and Wilber in the 1600 meter run. They qualified for Regionals along with Eisenhutt and Scott Rench in the 3200 meter run. Wilber later qualified for the State Meet. This year's M.V.P. was Neal Wilber. He placed first in scoring, ahead of Scott Rench and Steve Lamore. Outstanding athlete awards were given out to Lamore and Eisenhutt. Wilber placed 6th at the State finals.

Another first was recorded by Dawn Grabowski in the 400 meter run. This was also a school record. The 1600 meter relay team of Jenny Lambert, Chris Sulewski, Julie Platt, and Dawn Grabowski set a conference and school record while placing first in their race. All were named first-team all-conference members.

In the Sectional Meet the team placed sixth. Melissa Mehal placed first in the high jump while qualifying for regional competition. The 1600 meter relay team also qualified. At the Regional, Mehal took second and the 1600 meter relay team took fifth.

Witten pitches 100 strike outs

Crown Point has had many firsts in sports this year, especially in girls' sports. The addition of the girls' softball team was not the least of these accomplishments.

The first Crown Point softball team showed its spirit by sporting a 9-4 season record. In Lake Suburban Conference play, the team won one, and lost none. Patty Foyer powered the team's only home run in a game-saving-at-bat.

Showing strength also was Toni Byrd who muscled in three triples. With four doubles each were Jennifer Hargis and Kathy Duckett.

Kim Witten was named Most Valuable Player by Coach Mark Callison. Byrd was given the honor of Outstanding Offensive Player. In pitching, Witten's speed devastated the opponents as she sped 100 strike outs under her belt.

Varsity golfers place third in the Lake Suburban Conference

The varsity golfers finished the season with a record of 8-8. But the record does not tell the true story. A total of 44 strokes was the total deficit of all the meets lost. Only 14 strokes separated the Bulldogs from victory in five conference matches.

David Burk made the Lake Suburban Conference first team All-Conference. His 81 strokes at the All-Conference meet at Lake Hills Golf Course gave him a second place.

The team gave several awards to the team players. Burk and Steve Smead were the teams Co-Captains. Burk was named the Most Valuable Player. Don Eisenhauer received the Most Improved Varsity Golfer Award. The Best Putter Award was given to Jason Thorne. Ryan Walls was named the Most Promising Freshman. Burk, Eisenhauer, Charlie Kammann, Smead, and Thorne were all major letter winners.

Without the help and co-operation of the many people who worked together to produce the 1983-1984 Excalibur, it could not have been the success that we believe it will be. We have experienced many anxious moments that have ended either in complete disappointment or in complete satisfaction. Many hours were spent by a great many people to produce this book. A special thanks goes to Joey Wu for the cover of this year's Excalibur and to Larry Utley for writing the theme copy. We'd also like to thank Miss Eleanore Britton for her patience and guidance in working with our inexperienced staff. Somehow the satisfaction with the finished product has made all the sweat and hard work well worth while. We hope that we have succeeded in capturing the memories and experiences of the year and have created a book that you as readers will enjoy.
